POCATELLO, Ida., Dec. 22.—The dairy industry has brought in more than $5,000,000 to the southern Idaho during the past 11 months, according to the closest estimate that is available at this time.

Boise Valley alone has had a total of $3,000,000 from the dairy industry. Without considering the value of the milk and butter retained in the section for the past eleven months, the creameries and other dairies have paid $2,494,283 to the dairy farmers for milk and cream.

According to an estimate made by the Pocatello manager of the Idaho Dairy Association, that company has paid more than $1,000,000 to the dairy farmers in the past eleven months and the estimate of money paid to the dairy farmers for the same time is approximately $2,000,000. This territory includes the Twin Falls and Idaho Falls sections of the state and sections of other companies such as the Pocatello, the Hennington, the Butte, the Nelson-Ricks and others of Salt Lake and Ogden.
